

Guidelines for Map Submission

Geomundus Mapathon 2020

Submission Content

The submitted map must not have been published before and should not be under process of participation in any other map making competition or publication medium. All co-authors (if any) should have approved the submission. The submitted work must not be copied or plagiarized in whole or in part from other works and must represent the cartographer's own contributions. Data sources must be mentioned for the work. The submitted map must respect the following specifications:

- Map Elements
- Size and Format (A3 - landscape or portrait is up to author)
- Cited and recent Data Sources (latest 2010)
- Description about the Map (second page of pdf document) - A4, Page limit 1, Min. font size 12
 - Map Content Description
 - Discussion on Results
 - Expected Audience
 - Tools and Technology used for production
 - Any other Comments

Note: *Try to be as concise and specific as possible. To the point and that's it.

*Multiple maps can be included in the first page, but try not to clutter it too much. Less is more!

- Details about the Cartographers (second page of same pdf document)
 - Full Name and Email
 - Background

Design

- Dimensions: A3 size (page 1) A4 size (page 2)
- Format: PDF (upto 400 dpi) - Two Pages (first page: poster of maps and second of details)

Note

The winning digital submissions will be displayed during the "Mapathon Session" of the online conference as well as hosted online in a "Mapathon gallery section" of the GeoMundus website.
